CHARLEROI TO HAVE A MOST MODERN AUTOMOBILE GARAGE

A. D. Spencer Now Preparing for Its Erection on McKean Avenue

TO BE FIREPROOF STRUCTURE

Within the next few months Charleroi will have one of the finest and best appointed automobile garages and service stations in the Monongahela valley, or possibly in Western Pennsylvania. Work of clearing the site is now in progress and within a short time the actual work of construction will be under way.

This garage, which is to be erected by A. D. Spencer will be located at the corner of McKean avenue and Second street from which the old storage garage and dwelling house are now being removed. Plans for the structure were prepared by Architect A. P. Cooper of Uniontown and show practically every modern convenience which can be attached to an improvement of this kind.

The structure, which will face 88 feet on McKean avenue and run back 100 feet on Second street to the railroad, will be constructed of brick and reinforced concrete and is expected to be absolutely fireproof. It will be two stories in height, the first floor providing for the garage proper with entrance from Second street, a machine shop, with a display or show room located in the corner of the building at McKean and Second The business office will also be on McKean avenue, as well as the storage and supply room,—with a door leading directly into the machine shop, which will be in the rear.

The second floor of the building will be devoted exclusively to the storage of cars. It will have a capacity of one hundred machines. Entrance to this storage room will be by means of an inclined plane built on a ten per cent grade, with entrance from Second street, near Railroad.

The first floor is so arranged as to give plenty of room for the various purposes for which it is designed. The garage will be 50x60 feet in size the machine shop 35x60 and the show room, where new cars will be displayed, 32x50 feet. The store room will be commodious in extent, as it is the purpose of Mr. Spencer to carry every part of a Buick machine, any make, that is on the market. In this way he will be able to care for the wants of any of those who own this style of machine, and save them a great deal of time as well as inconvenience when sending for new parts. The business office will be arranged in such a way as to be not only a convenience to the management and clerical force but likewise to the public.

Only a portion of the site will be excavated, under the corner of the building occupied by the store room. This excavation will be approximately 35x40 feet in which will be located the heating plant for the building, as well as the oil room while the gasoline tanks will be placed at a convenient point to supply automobiles.

Once the building is under way, which will be possibly next week, modern methods will be used in its construction. Wm. Murphy, the contractor, will bring into commission a concrete mixer which will make it unnecessary for workmen to handle any of the product except to feed the raw material into the machine. Its mixing and distribution will be taken care of by the mixer, which is one of the most modern kind in use.

The one-story building yet remaining on the rear of the site, will be moved from its present location and placed on Second street to be used as a storeroom for materials, particularly cement, of which a great quantity will be used. Already a car load of pulverized slag is ready for delivery while other material is expected to arrive daily from now on.

In making the purchase of the site Mr. Spencer found it necessary to secure a deed from M. J. Alexander well known to many of the older residents of Charleroi as the man who handled the sale of lots when Charleroi was first established. The property owned by Mr. Alexander was a portion of the old site of McKean station, which antedated the present passenger station of Charleroi.

In selecting the site Mr. Spencer believes he has the finest site for a garage in the valley. The amount of automobile traffic at this point is about one-third greater than it is at the lower end of town, hundreds of machines using the Maple creek road in coming and going through Charleroi. This was the factor which determined him in buying the site now being cleared and which he believes will accommodate the most modern and best appointed service station in this section.

MEETING OF BUSINESS MEN THIS EVENING

The regular monthly meeting of the Charleroi Business Men's Association will be held this evening at six o'clock at which time they will take dinner at the Hotel Charleroi. After dinner addresses will be made by Prof. Pollock, whose topic will be War Gardens and by Fred Pieper.

W. A. MIKSCH IS ON COMMITTEE

By an oversight the name of W. A. Miksch, President of the Turn Verein, was inadvertantly omitted from the list of committees appointed to look after the coming Liberty Loan campaign. The list, as our readers no doubt will have noticed, was a very long one and embraced all of the fraternal organizations of Charleroi. In making up this list the name of the Turners was ommitted, but Mr. Miksch had been selected for a chairmanship by Mr. Daly just the same as it was not intended to pass up any of those whose services would be valuable in this campaign.

Live Chicks Are Sent to Charleroi by Parcel Post

The first shipment of live chicks to be received by the Charleroi postoffice arrived this morning, from New Washington, Ohio. They were for John Japp, who lives at Smith stop out the Bentleyville car line. The chicks were of the single comb brown leghorn variety and every one of the fifty of which the shipment was composed, were as lively as crickets when they reached Charleroi, evidently feeling no ill effect from the long journey. They were delivered to Mr. Japp this morning, in good condition. The shipment of these chicks by parcel post was the occasion of considerable interest among the clerks at the local postoffice as it showed that [illegible] was just as efficient in the delivery of "live stock" as in other departments of work.

BROTHER KILLED ON AVIATION FIELD

Miss Zella Franks, teacher of stenography in the Charleroi high school, received a telegram Wednesday afternoon, from her home in Clyde, Ohio, telling her of the death of her brother, G. O. Franks at Wichita Falls, Texas. Mr. Franks was a cadet in the aviation corps at Call Field, American Camp and was killed Wednesday morning, when his machine made a dive headfirst to the ground. Franks was flying alone at the time. The machine was consumed by fire, while the body of Franks was badly burned. He would have been commissioned as second lieutenant within the next two weeks had he not been overtaken by the fatal accident. Miss Franks left at once for her home.

CHILD KILLED BY A HEAVY TRUCK

A little girl, Marcella, the 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mounier of 123 Third street, Monessen was instantly killed Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock when she was run over by a two-ton truck on Schoonmaker avenue in that town.

The truck, a two-ton affair is owned by a man named Monchi who operates a mine in Turkey hollow. The machine was in charge of A. Sighi, who was arrested immediately after the accident and is being held for a hearing.

The little girl had accompanied two other children, Mary and Anna Collins aged respectively seven and six years to the store. Their purchases had evidently been made and all three of them were on the way back home. The Colins children had crossed the street safely but the Mounier child was knocked down by the big truck, the front wheel pasing over the body as it lay lengthwise on the street. Jasper Bonafed who witnessed the accident called to the driver and was running the car to stop, which he did, bringing the machine to a halt in less than its own length. The rear wheel, however, was resting on the child's body the litle girl having been almost instantly killed by the immense weight.

A large crowd immediately collected and for a time it looked serious for Sighi, who had got down from the truck and was assisting in getting the child from under the machine. He became frightened at the threats made by the crowd and started to run away, but he was overtaken. The police then took charge of him and placed him in the lockup to await a hearing. A coroner's inquest will be conducted by Deputy Coroner, Dr. M. J. Cramer this afternoon.

The impression prevails in Monessen that the drive was not at fault as he evidently did not see the child and moreover was not driving the machine very fast.

CASE AGAINST MORGAN WAS POSTPONED

Officer Gus Brickner and Special Officer Jones of the Pennsylvania force, who went to Uniontown Wednesday to appear as witnesses in the case of the commonwealth against Ernest Morgan, did not have an opportunity to give testimony. The case had been out off until the June term because of the Lindley murder trial now on in the Fayette county courts and which promises to extend over a period of several days.

NO CHANGE WILL BE MADE IN TIME SCHEDULES NEXT WEEK

JEFFRIES' DEATH DUE TO HEART FAILURE

A coroner's jury which inquired into the death of Isaac Jeffries, in Charleroi last week, found that he died from heart failure. He had died at the home of Sarah Boyd, with whom it was in evidence, he had been living. Jeffries was a river deck hand and was single.

GUILD INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS

The Westminister Guild of the church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Thomas Barger, Prospect avenue and an interesting meeting was held. The retiring President, Miss Mamie Rockwell, called attention to the last of the winter conferences to be held in the Bellefield Presbyterian church of Pittsburg on Thursday. A contribution for a memorial in China to the late Mrs. Potts, a prominent worker among young people, was presented by Miss Grace Gelder. The program was in charge of Miss Elma Collins, assisted by Miss Susie Jewell, Miss Emma Clutter accompanied by her sister Bernice Clutter contributed a solo. The following officers were installed:

President—Miss Geneviere Nutt.

Vice President—Miss Grace Gelder.

Secretary—Miss Helen Fleming.

Treasurer—Miss Stella Baudoux.

Pianist—Mrs. Gray Gaut.

Temperance Secretary—Miss Roline Gunderman.

The hostesses were Mrs. Thomas Barger and Mrs. John Metz. A social hour followed the program.

WORK UNDER WAY ON GUIDE WALL

Work has been resumed at Lock 4 on the work of constructing the inner guide wall, which will connect the inside lock with the upper guide wall erected some time ago. All the piling for the new addition have been driven and the mudsills are in place and just as soon as the timber work is completed the concrete superstructure will be placed under way. All the necessary forms are on hand, and the finishing portions of the work will be pushed with dispatch. While this work is under way the inside lock will be closed to traffic during the day, but will be used for empty craft up bound at night.

BANKS WILL BE CLOSED TOMORROW

Tomorrow being Good Friday all of the Charleroi banks will be closed all day.

Clocks Must Be Moved Forward Early Sunday Morning One Hour

"WATCH YOUR CLOCK" SLOGAN

Citizens having business to transact with the several banks of Charleroi next week, had better "watch the clock," for these institutions will observe the new schedules which will go into effect next Sunday at 2 o'clock a. m. This will mean that they will observe banking hours by the clock, just the same as other business institutions both for the opening and closing hours.

The clocks of the country are to be moved forward one hour next Sunday morning but no schedules of any kind will be changed. Stores will open at the same hour by the clock as before, schools will observe the same clock time as is in force now and church services will be held at he same hours—by the clock.

People are apt to become confused somewhat on this point, because we will be getting around one hour earlier in the morning, and having an hour of additional daylight for recreation or other purposes in the afternoon and evening. Railroad schedules will not be changed—they will run just the same as at present trains observing the same hours as they do now.

In order that people do not miss their trains; that they are not too late in attending to their banking business, or attending church service, or sending their children to school, it will be necessary to move the clocks forward one hour early next Sunday morning. Then you will be right. Otherwise you are apt to find yourself running one hour behind the general schedule. The change is operative all over the United States, Congress having enacted the daylight conservation measure last week.

So it is well to remember to "Watch your clock."

CHIEF EXECUTIVES TO MEET FRIDAY

A meeting of the chief executives of all the towns in this section of the Monongahela valley will be held in the Municipal building, Donora, Friday evening, at which time a number of questions of importance to the various communities will be taken up and discussed. One question which will receive immediate consideration will be the early closing of all business places in accordance with the recommendation of the National administration.

Mrs. John Penman and children have returned to their home in Pittsburg after a three weeks' visit with Charleroi friends.

MAKING IT SAFE FOR FATHER

The oil development game is a precarious one with many ups and downs as many another man than Joe Guffey can testify. One can get rich in a hurry if things break rightly, but drilling holes in dry territory makes a big dent in any bank roll. Yet it's the most fascinating gamble of them all.

Guffey had been through all of it. He had started at fifteen as a driller's helper. At twenty-one he was boss of his own crew. Five years later he made his first single handed venture at wildcatting. Fortune attended him and he came out of it with something like a hundred thousand dollars in cash.

Joe Guffey was only mortal like the rest of us. He was intoxicated with success.

Within three years he had dropped it all. Twice again within the next fifteen years he had made and lost fortunes even greater. And finally a lucky strike down in Oklahoma had put him on his feet again.

"Marge," he said to his wife the evening he got home, "we've been down to hard pan twice since we were married. Once before that I blew a respectable fortune down in Kentucky. Now that things are right again I'm going to make you independent for life."

He reached into an inside pocket and drew out a bill book. Here's a New York draft for $100,000 payable to you. It's yours. You take it down to the bank and deposit it in your own name. And never give me a cent of it, never. If you do I'll drop it sure."

His wife merely slipped both arms around his neck, sobbing.

Ten days later Joe Guffey went home early one evening. Something that looked good was offered and he wanted some ready cash. His wife had it.

She met him visibly excited. "Joe," she cried, half between laughter and tears, "I've done it. This is the first time I ever did anything without asking your advice, but if I've made a mistake I don't want you to scold."

Little shivers chased themselves up and down Joe Guffey's spine. "Well what in the Lord's name have you done?" he demanded, scenting disaster.

"I've bought $100,000 worth of Liberty Bonds," she declared defiantly. "And now you can't get any of it no matter how badly you want it.

Joe Guffey was game. He saw a good thing shot all to pieces but he chuckled

"Well, thank heaven, you've sure made it safe," he said.

GOING TO THE FRONT

Next Monday the people of this community will again be called upon to pay tribute to the men who have been selected by the draft board and called by the government, to report to a military cantonment for training. Sixty-one men are in the contingent to be selected from among the many hundreds of the district who have been examined and placed on the eligible list for service. They will go to Camp Lee, our first contingent to that military training camp, where for the next few months they will receive that instruction which it is expected will make them into good soldiers.

From every district in the United States other men will be called, until almost one hundred thousand will have been taken from private life and inducted into military service. While the number from the fifth district is comparatively small, we must remember that this contingent is only one of several that will be called during the year until the entire eight hundred thousand men have been summoned for service. Our next contribution may be numerically larger—possibly will be, thus reducing our available man power very materially, for local purposes.

In such a contingency as this, how necessary therefore that those who remain at home be ready for any duty and any sacrifice the government may ask. The men summoned for military duty will in all likelihood "go across" for active service, which will make it necessary that the boys as well as those well beyond the draft age give of their energy as never before to carry on the work which must be accomplished by the second line of defense.

The calling of additional men should cause us to pause and think, and resolve that henceforth we are patriotically behind the government in every move to win the war.

"HAND IT" TO THE GERMANS

John Philip Sousa, the well known bandmaster, in the course of a patriotic address in Philadelphia a few days ago, enumerated the kind of men who "would not be missed" in this country at the present time, and among them was the citizen who says, "You've got to hand it to the Germans."

That sort of talk is tiresome and Mr. Sousa rightly condemns the Americanism of those who indulge in it. Now along comes Bruce Bielaski, chief of the Bureau of Intelligence of the Department of Justice, to say that the men who are being sent to France to fight are the equals of the Germans in physical ability and their superiors in intelligence.

"We ought to stop talking," he says, about the efficiency and wonderful effectiveness of the German soldiers, and ought to feel and know that our men at the front are the superiors of the Germans in every way."

So they are—in everything that goes to make up true courage, honor and manliness. And the chap who stands on the street corner and says "You've got to hand it to the Germans" should be made to understand that he is only half American.

"Hand it" to the Germans, but not in the way they like. "Hand it" to them by buying Liberty Bonds. "Hand it" to them by scrupulously obeying the regulations of the food administrator. "Hand it" to them by doing everything in your power to help support the brave boys who have gone to the battle front to give the Huns a demonstration of what red-blooded men can do.

"Hand it" to the Germans by giving them a blow that will make the world safe for decency and democracy.

HOLDING THE LINE

Conditions look much better on the western front. The big German drive is slowing down. The mighty toll exacted by the allies has undoubtedly had its effect. Moreover, the great mass of reserves which are believed to be ready behind the allied lines to launch a counter offensive are possibly able to push the Germans back over a great deal of the territory they have taken. In any event the great battle, or series of battles, has only begun. While initial successes have been with the Germans, the allies will now have a great deal to say. In addition, more reserves will be continually coming to the support of the allies, strengthening their lines from day to day, which will make it an impossibility for the Germans to make any impression. The Huns have delivered their greatest blow. The resistance of the British was so stubborn that the Germans could not make their contemplated schedule. The allied troops fought with a vigor and a determination that surprised the Germans. The Huns were evidently of the opinion that with their sheer mass of numbers they would be able to ride over the British lines and break their lines into tatters. However, they failed to reckon with British determination and bulldog tenacity, which slowed up the overpowering hosts of the invaders.

The drive has been about stopped and like the pendulum, will now recede, accelerated it is believed by a mighty drive by the reserve forces of the allied armies.

A WONDERFUL RECORD

The power of Great Britain shows no grave strain, in spite of almost four years of herculean efforts. Edgar Crammond, one of the most conservative British economic authorities showed in a recent address that notwithstanding the vast withdrawals of 7,000,000 men for army and navy, her steel output had increased from seven million tons before the war to 10 millions; coal from 247 million tons to 289 millions and agricultural output from 208 millions sterling to 400 millions. In addition to carrying two-thirds of her own sea-borne traffic, and one half the sea-borne trade of the world she also financied more than one-half of the world's trade. In the meantime the cost of living in Great Britain has decreased ten per cent during the last six months. Such is the record and the marvelous strength of our principal ally.

WATCH YOUR CLOCK

As daylight conservation becomes an accomplished fact on the last day of this month, it might be well for all citizens, before retiring the night before Easter, to think twice before setting the alarm clock. In fact it will be necessary to do this, otherwise they will be apt to raise one hour late Sunday morning, too late for church, or they will miss the train they intended to catch just by an hour.

At 2 o'clock Easter morning the daylight saving plan goes into effect. Train time or church services will not be changed but will as usual follow their regular schedules as usual, that is according to the clock. Everyone from President Wilson will follow the daylight saving plan and unless you want to be behind the times it will be up to you to turn your clock ahead one hour.

THE BOND CAMPAIGN

Charleroi's Liberty Loan committees were announced Wednesday. The big drive for the local subscriptions to these bonds will begin at once. Every field of activity is covered and from now until the end of the campaign the efforts of all those enlisted will be exerted to the utmost to "put over" the pro rata which has been assigned to this community. It is to be an intensive campaign and every citizen is expected to do his duty. Let there be a generous response to the appeal, which will be made from now on until the last bond is sold. Let us show the Hun that America is solidly behind the boys on the firing line and that their every requirement will be taken care of.

IT SHOULD BE LENROOT

Vice President Marshall wants the Republicans of Wisconsin to vote for a Democrat against their own candidate. As Mr. Lenroot has proven to be such a valuable man on the floor of the House, his loyalty to everything American being well known, it would be more fitting for Democrats to vote for him that there be no question of his election. No doubt many loyal Republicans voted for Mr. Thompson, who opposed Mr. Lenroot for Senator, but as they lost out at the primaries they will undoubtedly stand by the nominee of their party If there was any question about the loyalty of Mr. Lenroot it would be a different proposition. He is a loyal American citizen and ought to be elected.

EASILY ANSWERED

The following from the New York Tribune permanently sets forth a point well taken:

"Where do you get the absurd facts you print?" is a favorite query put to newspaper men. In the view of these cynics newspapers spend most of their time misspelling names, imagining incidents that never happened, and generally manhandling life as it is led. There is just one answer to be made to the query above and that is "Newspapers get such of their facts as are absurd from the absurd human beings who for one reason or a thousand refuse to relate facts accurately."

New Year in British Navy.

Three hundred and sixty-four times in the year is midnight's passing marked by the striking of eight bells in every ship in the British navy. At the moment when the old year draws its last breath, and the new year is born, the whole navy strikes 16 bells, but never on any other occasion, for then eight are given to bid farewell to the old year and to welcome the new. By tradition, the youngest officer of the ship strikes the bell, and by tradition the youngest boy in the ship acts as his echo by hammering the blacksmiths anvil.

The Perennial Pest.

The buzz of the agent is heard on the wynde. He proffers insurance to lame, holt and blind. With sweet siren singing to us he appeals to buy books and silos and automobiles, and rat traps and razors and cures for the itch, and pretty oil stocks that will make us all rich. While we yet have a nickel his banger's as wild as the fond mother's yarn for her long absent child. He comes in the morning and lingers all day. His full name is legion, and he's with us to stay.—Kansas City Star.

Comfort in Rat's Companionship.

Once in a great prison a prisoner showed me a gray rat that he had made friends with and had trained to become comparatively fearless. As it nibbled at the piece of bread that he held in his hand he said with a whimsical smile: "It's pleasant to have a little creature for a friend that doesn't care or doesn't even know whether you're a prisoner or not and likes you just because you've had a chance to show a little kindness."—Exchange.

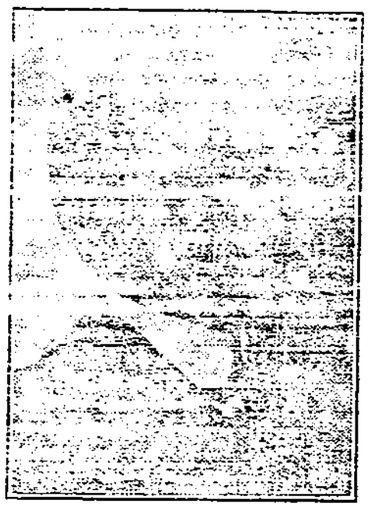
Social Structure and Criminal.

It is a herculean task to bring about reform in the administration of the criminal law. But the dawn of a better day is at hand. It is becoming more generally understood that the criminal is one of the by-products of an evil social system, and that in the improvement of our social structure will be found the solution of the problem of the criminal.—Alexander Karlin in the Humanitarian.

FARMER CHOSEN EXPERT ADVISOR

C. J. Tyson, of Pennsylvania, Named For National Post.

HONOR FOR KEYSTONE STATE



C. J. TYSON.

Philadelphia, March 29.—C. J. Tyson, one of the representatives of the farmers in the United States Food Administration for Pennsylvania, has been appointed a member of the Advisory Board, selected by the Secretary of Agriculture and the United States Food Administrator, Herbert Hoover, to represent the producing interests of the nation, in the matter of increasing the supply of live stock, fruits and vegetables.

This Advisory Board will be called into conference by the two departments from time to time to discuss national agricultural problems. The first meeting will be held in the office of the Secretary of Agriculture, in Washington, March 28th.

The membership has been selected with reference not only to the larger agricultural interests, but also to geographical consideration. The full membership of the committee follows:

E. S. Brigham, St. Albans, Vt.
C. J. Tyson, Flora Dale, Pa.
Henry C. Stuart, Elk Garden, Va.
David P. Massie, Chillicothe, O.
D. O. Mahoney, Viroqua, Wis.
F. J. Hagenbarth, Spencer, Idaho.
Isaac Lincoln, Aberdeen, S. D.
W. G. Gordon, Humboldt, Tenn.
H. W. Jeffers, Plainsboro, N. J.
Milo D. Campbell, Coldwater, Mich.
George C. Roeding, Fresno, Cal.
C. W. Hunt, Logan, Ia.
William F. Pratt, Batavia, N. Y.
David R. Coker, Harteville, S. C.
C. S. Barrett, Union City, Ga.
Oliver Wilson, Peoria, Ill.
Marion Sansom, Fort Worth, Texas.
N. H. Gentry, Sedalia, Mo.
J. N. Hagan, Bismarck, N. D.
W. L. Brown, Kingman, Kan.
Eugene Funk, Bloomington, Ill.
W. W. Harrah, Pendleton, Ore.
W. R. Dodson, Baton Rouge, La.
John Grattan, Golden, Colo.

Howard Heinz, U. S. Administrator, and other officers of the Pennsylvania Food Administration expressed gratification at the selection of Mr. Tyson as constituting a tribute to the efficiency of the State Administration, a recognition of the farmers of Pennsylvania, and a high compliment to the scientific skill and attainments of Mr. Tyson himself.

Mr. Tyson was born on the farm where he still lives, at Flora Dale, Adams county, Pa., September 4, 1877. He was educated in the public schools, at the George School, near Newtown, Pa., and at Swarthmore College. He operates one of the largest apple orchards in Pennsylvania, which is owned jointly by himself and two brothers. He has also about 200 acres in general farm crops.

Mr. Tyson served seven years as secretary and later as president of the State Horticultural Association of Pennsylvania, and he is now chairman of its legislative committee. He is a trustee of Pennsylvania State College to the advisory committee of its School of Agriculture, and of the standing committee in charge of agriculture extension.

He has been since 1912, pomologist of the Pennsylvania State Board of Agriculture, and he is a member of the committee in charge of the Pennsylvania Agriculture Products Show for the years 1917-1918. He is a member of the State Chamber of Commerce, and of its Board of Directors.

WHEAT RETURN IS HIGH

Interesting Figures For Farmers From Food Statisticians.

Washington, March 26.—Dr. Raymond Pearl, statistician of the United States food administration, says that the American farmer still receives a higher return per bushel from wheat than from any other cereal crop.

Dr. Pearl, taking his information from the published reports of the United States agricultural department, finds that the average price received by the farmer for wheat for the three years before the war was 86 9-10 cents a bushel. He receives now $2.006 a bushel, a percentage increase of 121.

Corn comes next with a percentage increase of 109 and oats and barley are tied with a percentage increase of 105.

Practice of Medicine Guesswork

It has been said that the practice of medicine at best is simply a game of guesswork, because the action of drugs varies to a great degree upon different individuals; but when a medicine has lived for forty years, constantly growing in sales and popularity there can be no greater proof of its merit. Such a medicine is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that famous old root and herb remedy, now recognized from shore to shore as the standard remedy for female ills.

Notice to Road Contractors.

Sealed proposals for the construction of the following sections of roads in Fallowfield Township, Washington County, Pennsylvania, will be received by Wesley Young, Secretary of the Board addressed care of Bank of Charleroi, Charleroi, Pa., until two o'clock p. m. April 12th, 1918. Bids will be opened the same day at two o'clock p. m. at Bank of Charleroi in the presence of the Road Supervisors of Fallowfield Township.

The sections of the roads herein advertised will be improved in accordance with plans and specifications furnished upon application to Wesley Young, Secretary, (Speers, R. D. No. 1, Pa.) from whom proposals, instructions for bidding and terms of contract may be obtained. The sections of the roads above referred to are as follows: From house on Rodgers Estate to residence of Grant Cooper, about 3050 feet. Allen Bridge to Charleroi-Bentleyville road about 1500 feet.

Each road must be bid on separately and a certified check for $100.00 and a Surety Company Bond for $5,000.00 must accompany each bid. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved.

Wesley Young,
Secretary.

ARREST CONDUCTOR FOR ROBBING CARS

Frank Mixie a yard service railroad conductor, who was employed by the P. & L. E. railroad in and about the Monessen yards was arrested on Monday last on a charge of larceny by Lieutenant O. H. Mosier of the railroad police.

After the arrest a search warrant was sworn out before Justice J. B. White and the home of Mixis searched where a large amount of goods were found, principally groceries and supplies, among the lot being 150 pounds of sugar, 200 pounds of flour, canned goods, lard and other eatables to the amount of about $200.00. All of this stock was taken to the office of the justice to be used in evidence a gainst Mixie in a hearing to be held today.

It is said that the robbery of cars in the Monessen yards had become so frequent and so bold that some merchants were refusing to ship goods on the Lake Erie, which caused the company to put their best men on the case to ferret out the robberies. Suspicion was directed toward Mixie and his arrest speedily followed. He is said to have moved to Monessen from Belle Vernon a short time ago and prior to his service on the Lake Erie had worked on the Monongahela Division of the P. R. R. for thirteen years.

FORMER COAL PRICES RESTORED

Local coal dealers and particularly the operators of the wagon mines are greatly encouraged over the fact that the order of Fuel Administrator Garfield, which reduced the price of the coal at the mine about 45 cents per ton, has been rescinded and that the former prices, $2.45 for run of mine, $2.70 for selected and $2.20 for slack had been restored.

When the $2 rate for run of mine was announced earlier in his week recently all of the wagon loaders quit business —that is, they took no further orders for rail shipment, and as a consequence the output of coal was materially reduced. However, the decision of the federal administration to restore former prices makes the outlook much more encouraging for the trade. The coal men had really expected a raise in prices, but it is not likely to be granted this summer.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR RESPICO HELD YESTERDAY

The funeral of Mike Repico, who died March 18th from injuries received at Fayette City took place Wednesday, services being held in the Greek Catholic church and interment in Calvary. The body was held at the Crowley morgue for several days in the hope of some of his relatives or friends coming forward to claim it. Repico, who formerly boarded at the corner of McKean avenue and Eleventh street, had only moved to Fayette City on the day of the accident. He was brought to the Charleroi-Monessen hospital, where he died a short time later.

WELL KNOWN GLASS BLOWER DIED WEDNESDAY

Thomas Noble died at his home in New Eagle, Wednesday afternoon at 12:15 o'clock, aged 46 years. He was a glass blower by trade and was born in England. He is survived by his widow and one son, his parents and several brothers and sisters. He had been at the State Sanitarium at Cresson for his health and came home Tuesday night.

All Over the County They Are Taking "Neutrone Prescription 99"

To be strong and free from all stiffness in your joints and muscles, just think of it for only 50c or $1.00 for one or two weeks treatment.

"Neutrone Prescription99" is quickly absorbed into the system and in a few days or two brings blessed relief to tired, weary, aching, swollen joints and muscles.

It's easy to use, too, no fuss and bother getting ready, no time lost rubbing in fiery liniments or using hot plasters, just take four times a day faithfully and all stiffness, suffering and misery will vanish.

Used regularly it makes the lame and crippled strong and vigorous, draws out all the stiffness, agony and inflammation. It's fine. Get a bottle today at your druggist, 50c and $1.00. Mail orders filled on $1.00 size. W. F. Hennings the druggist and leading druggists everywhere.

SENDING OUT NOTICES FOR SPRING PRIMARY

The county commissioners are giving notice of the May primaries, which will be held Tuesday, May 21. At the primary nominations will be made by all parties for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs one judge of the superior court, four congressmen-at-large, representative in congress from the 24th district, senator in the general assembly and three representatives in the general assembly. In addition each party will nominate a member for the state committee and each precinct a member of the county committee.

MANY REPUBLICANS WILL ATTEND BANQUET

Many Republicans from Washington county will attend the banquet of the Americus Club in Pittsburg this evening. Among the speakers will be Congressman T. S. Crago from Waynesburg and State Senator W. E. Crow of Uniontown.

Exposure Aches

Cold rain, winds, and dampness bring out the rheumatic aches. An application of Sloan's Liniment will soon have the blood circulating and the pain will disappear. For neuralgia, lame back, stiff neck, sprains, strains, and all muscle soreness, Sloan's Liniment can't be beat. No rubbing: it quickly penetrates and does its work without stain or clogging of the pores. Better than plasters or ointments. For cold feet or hands try an application of Sloan's Liniment. Generous sized bottles, at all druggists.

WHAT A NEWSPAPER MEANS

Some Truths That the Average Man May Not Have Realized, but Here They Are.

What does the newspaper mean to you?

There is so much news no one can carry all of it. Someone must make selection. Do you appreciate how much depends upon this selection? Upon the selected and emphasized news centers the picture of the world upon which your judgments are based.

In a business way your decisions as to business are affected by the newspaper you read.

In politics your opinions as a voter are swayed by them.

By what your wife reads you can see the trend of many of her interests and needs.

You have your thought turned in a new channel perhaps by what you read, and, when you find others concerned as you are and that the idea has been followed in their minds as in yours, you possibly discover how you can do collectively what you alone never could accomplish.

The newspaper enlarges the viewpoint of life for your boy in his college years. Stories of high purpose of achievement strength and uplift lift standards. The great world of life which he has not touched exists to him only as presented by the newspaper.—New York Evening Mail.

ALL WILLING TO PAY FARES

Reason Why Citizens of Lima, Peru, Do Not Seek to Evade Their Street Car Obligations.

If fare registers were to be placed in the street cars of Lima, Peru, there would be a loud protest. This is not because it is easier to dodge the conductor under the prevailing system. On the contrary, the travelers of Lima are willing, even anxious, to pay their fares. Perhaps that doesn't seem human, but the explanation is that upon receipt of the fare a numbered ticket is presented to the passenger, and it is a valuable lottery ticket.

The car lines are divided into four sections for the monthly and semi-monthly drawings conducted by the railway company. In the three important sections a cash prize of $150 is offered. The fourth section offers a prize of $50.

Does the public approve of the lottery? Does it? Well 28,500,000 persons rode last year.

Silkworms of the Sea.

Plenty of worms live in the sea, and some of them are very beautiful creatures. Which latter fact ought to be consoling to ourselves, inasmuch as there are naturalists who contend that the earliest ancestor of the human race was a marine worm. But the so-called "silkworm of the sea"—the designation being purely figurative and poetical—is a bivalve mollusk properly known as the "pinna" and native to the Mediterranean. It spins a silk so beautiful that in ancient days the fiber was reserved exclusively for the weaving of royal garments. This silk is spun by the mollusk to furnish an anchor line by which it fastens itself to a convenient rock. It is extremely fine and very strong. Cleaned, dried and passed through combs, it is reduced to delicate threads of a lustrous brownish-yellow hue, which are woven into gloves, stockings and other articles. A pair of stockings of this material today costs £6.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Clearer Values.

All life and action upon the snow have an added emphasis and significance. Every expression is understood. Summer has few finer pictures than this winter one of the farmer foddering his cattle from a stack upon the clean snow—the movement, the sharply defined figures, the great green flakes of hay, the long files of patient cows, the advance just arriving and pressing eagerly for the choice morsels—and the bounty and protection it suggests.

A severe subject! No lot for the canvas and the pen-and-ink, but the marble and the etching. . . . I see the hills, bulging with great drifts lift themselves cold and white against the sky, the black lines of trees here and there obliterated by the depth of the snow. Perhaps a fox barks away up the next mountain, and I hear me I see him sitting erect on his furs upon the illuminated scene, and looking down in my direction.—John Burroughs.

Little Known of Shooting Stars.

Our knowledge of shooting stars extends into the oldest history of humanity, back into prehistoric times. Yet today no one knows exactly what a shooting star is, or from where it comes. An hypothesis proposed in 1875 and generally accepted today, is that meteorites are fragments broken from small planetary masses by volcanic explosions, brought about by a sudden expansion of gasses, steam and probably hydrogen. The broken bits, after their separation, are believed to arrange themselves in swarms which cross the orbit of the earth in accordance with a definite law. Shooting stars, then, undoubtedly come from within our solar system and are broken bits of a world body destroyed by volcanic events. Many meteorites have been found in Arizona.—Popular Science Monthly.

The Sixth Sense.

Human beings have a real sixth sense, says Science, in the shape of a sense of equilibrium. This sense is coming in for much intensive study today, because it is probably the most important qualification for the successful aviator. It has been found to reside in three tiny canals in the inner ear. These three canals are located in the bone of the skull and are filled with a liquid in which nerve filaments from the auditory nerve terminate. In some way not yet clearly understood, through these canals and nerves the individual can tell, without being able to see or feel, just how nearly upright his position is. The sense is much more keenly developed in some people than in others.

Uncle Eben.

"When you sees a man wif a puffickly good disposition jes now," said Uncle Eben, "it's a sure sign dat he's got 'most as much as a ton of coal in his cellar."

Daily Thought.

To be able to obey ideas, to be free from self-consciousness, to be simple—these are the secrets of courage.—Phillips Brooks.

New Version.

Early to bed and early to rise make a man healthy, wealthy and an awful bore.—Chicago Evening Post.

Real Purpose in Life.

I am not concerned that I have no place; I am concerned how I may fit myself for one.—Confucius.

HOW COLD AFFECTS SOUNDS

Numerous Examples Can Be Given, but Exact Reason Is Hard to Explain.

A close observer describes two phenomena of nature not easily explained: First, that in cold weather than in the summer bells have different tints of the seconds and warmer months.

A number of examples occur to prove the first phenomenon. Who has not noticed the contrast in the noise of the wind in the great sequoias when it blows around the corner of the house—in winter what a soft, mellow tone it has and in winter what a harsh, rough whistle!

Then, too, let us stroll along the banks of a stream in May, June or July, and we will observe that the water will then have a gentle, babbling sound, while in November or winter it will, with not a bit volume, make a hoarse, gurgling noise.

So in spring, the rumble in the woods during the spring or early summer, we cannot but notice with what a softness and lightness the wind has been blowing through the tops of the trees; on the other hand, what a roaring it makes in cold weather.

Perhaps the trees being with or without foliage may cause some difference, but it will be observed in May, before the leaves are out to any extent, there is even then a marked difference between that time and December. Often we have heard it along telegraph wires during the summer and winter, and have noted the contrast.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

DISEASE SPREAD BY ANIMALS

Scientists and Physicians Have Prepared a Strong Indictment Against the Beasts.

Although animals are not affected by the sickness and communicable diseases of man, yet, for some unexplainable reason, the scientists and physicians declare that a whole host of oftimes fatal ailments of mankind are traceable to the beasts, says Popular Science Monthly.

The horse is blamed for spreading glanders, rabies, lockjaw and other diseases of five or more syllables. Dogs and cats are branded as the circulators of rabies, parasitic worms of different kinds, fleas and ticks.

The cow is the worst offender. The list of diseases laid at her barn door is headed with tuberculosis and grows constantly more blood-curdling, until we wonder why physicians and scientists consent to the use of milk, butter and cheese which still lead the dietitians' list of nutritives.

Rats, squirrels and fleas spread the bubonic plague. We are prepared to believe that lice and bedbugs, flies and mosquitoes are the rapid transit lines for yellow fever and malaria. We are willing to forego the luscious oyster all the year around, if need be, to avoid typhoid fever.

Longevity of Customs.

The longevity of customs is curiously illustrated in the case of Lord Forester, the fifth baron, whose death is announced. King Hal took an ancestor of Lord Forester so deeply into favor as to grant him leave to wear his hat in the "presence." The right became an heirloom, and is one of the trifles of etiquette to be remembered on occasion by officials of the court. The Foresters were originally of Watling street, and had charge of the Wrekin forest.—London Chronicle.

Great Tibetan Industry.

By far the largest herds of musk deer are to be found on the southern shores of the Koko-Nor, and the supply of musk there (at T'aochou) is larger than the quantity that comes through Sungpan. In fact, great quantities of musk do not come to Sungpan at all, but are sent east to Yuchow, in Honan, where a fur is held in the highest esteem. The T'aochou musk is the most valuable export, practically every horse load with it, and nearly all the Tibetans who come from the far interior have some with them. The price of musk there is fifteen times its weight in silver.

Shark Leather Here.

From being an undesirable enemy to man science is making the shark one of its friends by helping to reduce the high cost of living. For the tiger of the sea has now become a source of leather to clothe millions of pairs of feet.

Experiments with shark leather indicate that it may be used for a multitude of everything now made of cattle leather. It is even claimed that shark hides have one great advantage over cowhides in that the "splits" are amazingly strong. A "split" is simply a peeling of the hide—something like the veneer cut from a slab of wood.

Dove That Built Great City.

When mighty Amru went to conquer Egypt he camped on the east bank of the Nile opposite Memphis, that great 20-mile-long capital of mud bricks, whose western verge was the pyramids and whose mud brick houses have all vanished. Amru crushed the Egyptians and came back to get his camp to move over and occupy Memphis. A dove had built in the folds near the top of his tent. Blood-bathed Amru, the ruthless, would not let her be disturbed. A new city started about his tents. It grew northward along the Nile. It is today Cairo. Memphis is only a name.

Reached His Capacity.

The first floor of the home was reached at the rear by climbing a flight of stairs. One evening the family came from town with a good many parcels, which the father, mother and son, Eugene, proceeded to carry into the house. Eugene going up the steps first. As they neared the top step the father said, forgetting momentarily that the youngster's arms were full, too, "Open the screen door, son," to which the youngster replied: "I can't papa, I'm all used."

Left-Handedness.

At least one human being in fifty is left-handed. This is the minimum estimate. Some authorities say four in fifty. W. Franklin Jones declares that 4 per cent of the race are born left-handed, but about three-fourths of these are converted by training into more or less imperfect right-handers. On the other hand, about 1 per cent of the race, though born right-handed, is trained to use the left hand because of accidents to the right.—Scientific American.

Latin Countries.

Latin is the language of ancient Rome, the language originally spoken in Latium, and afterward extended over all the integral parts of the Roman empire in Europe. The countries of South America are inhabited by races ethnically and linguistically related to the ancient Romans or Italians; hence they are called Latin countries.
